

wästberg / w 124 lindvall

Product Information

The w 124 lindvall family of lights derives from experimenting with the influence that different materials have on the emotional qualities of the light they reflect. For example copper brings beautiful, deep warmth to the light.

With these classic materials as a starting point, creating an archetypical lamp, inspired by its predecessors – the oil lamp, the kerosene lamp or even candle sticks – came naturally. A light fixture, designed to direct the light downwards, but also to help create an ambiance in a room.

During the process, a mechanical feature emerged – a way to join the lamp shade together – that made the lamp stand out, if ever so slightly, from the crowd.

Design: Jonas Lindvall

Material	w 124 lindvall is available in three different materials: solid copper, brass or steel. The lamps are hand brushed and mat lacquered. The table lamp has a milled solid copper base.
Handmade	All w 124 lindvall are handmade.
A pleasant light	The glare-protecting shade and diffuser give the lamp a smooth and pleasant light. Both the copper and the brass shade add a glow to the light characteristic to the respective materials.
Indirect light	The lamp gives an indirect light through the open upper part of the shade, covered by a diffuser.
Direct light	The lamp gives a direct light through the open bottom part of the shade covered by a diffuser.
